Volunteer Goes Above and Beyond for Teenaged Brothers

When teenagers Evan's and Everett's mother died, their great grandmother, Catie, petitioned to become their legal guardian. Catie worked hard to care for the boys, but struggled with limited income, an old home and Evan's significant disabilities.

After the court appointed CVLS as guardian ad litem of the boys, volunteer Cherie Getchell recommended that Catie be appointed their guardian. She also began to help Catie, the boys, and their extended family, with other issues to ensure that Evan and Everett were in the best possible home environment.

Cherie helped Catie access low-cost bed bug removal services. She worked closely with the boys' schools to make sure they were getting appropriate services. Then she arranged for another CVLS volunteer to represent Catie in a housing case involving the family's home.

Cherie took her role as Minor GAL all the way.

CVLS Turns Panic Into Permanence

Elizabeth took her in her 2-year-old nephew after his parents were murdered before his eyes. By the time he was a teenager, his traumatic background had caught up with him and he became increasingly difficult for Elizabeth to control. Eventually, he was arrested for possession of a weapon and drugs.

Elizabeth found out about the arrests when she was notified by the Chicago Housing Authority that her rental assistance was terminated.

Elizabeth panicked. Her adult son, who has severe epileptic seizures, lives with her and they would have nowhere to go. Luckily, volunteer David Hanna of Brinks Gilson & Lione agreed to represent her through CVLS' Chancery Court Access to Justice Program. After hearing David's well-researched arguments, the Chancery Court reversed the CHA's decision and Elizabeth's housing benefits were reinstated.

Thanks to David's excellent work, Elizabeth and her son won't be out on the street.

Kudos to Veteran Volunteer Rawn Reinhard

CVLS sends a huge shout out to our loyal and very experienced volunteer, Rawn Reinhard, Partner at Neal, Gerber & Eisenberg, LLP, and his team. Rawn focuses his practice on arbitration, general commercial and corporate litigation, and appeals. Among other things, he represents securities brokerage firms and commercial clients in customer complaint litigation and employee departures. He has also represented clients faced with class actions and derivative litigation.

As if that doesn't keep him busy enough, Rawn, with the assistance of his colleagues, has taken on a whopping FOURTEEN minor GAL cases in the past three years alone - WOW! Many of those cases were complicated or resulted in full trials. CVLS can always call on Rawn to take cases at any moment, and normally when we send him a list of options, his response is "I'll take all of them!" Rawn has also taken it upon himself to recruit and train others at NGE to work on these cases with him.

Rawn's experience as a dedicated and highly knowledgeable GAL is much appreciated. An enormous thank you to Rawn and his co-workers at Neal Gerber!

Volunteer Elected to ISBA Board of Governors

CVLS volunteer Anna P. Krolikowska was recently elected to the Illinois State Bar Association's Board of Governors! Anna, a partner at K & R Family Legal Services, will serve a three-year term on the 27-member Board, which oversees ISBA operations and management.

Anna has been taking cases with CVLS since 2008, including guardianship, child support enforcement and divorce. Thanks for your continued amazing work, Anna!

Volunteer Spotlight: Michelle Marek Figueiredo

Congratulations to volunteer and Junior Board member Michelle Marek Figueiredo on winning an Excellence in Pro Bono Service award from the Federal Court! She and her colleagues secured a $7,000 settlement for their client on an excessive force case. Federal Bar Association National President Hon. Gustavo A. Gelphi recognized Michelle and her nine fellow award winners for "contributions in helping people most in need of assistance."

Michelle, an Associate at Kaye Scholer LLP, began working with CVLS as a law student in 2007 to gain hands-on experience. She continued as a Public Interest Law Initiative intern to represent CVLS clients, and joined our Junior Board in 2009, recently completing a year as First Chair.

Michelle says the legal knowledge and experience she gained on pro bono cases is essential to her own practice and the legal community in general. "Justice should be available to all, but it is out of reach to many," she says. "Doing pro bono work, and sharing my knowledge of the legal system, allows me to help others achieve a sense of justice in their lives."

In light of her award, we asked Michelle why volunteering is important to her. Her response is one of the many reasons why we're grateful for the work Michelle does on behalf of CVLS and our clients.

"I volunteer with the hope that any of the volunteer work I do improves a person's or a community's current situation. Volunteering allows me the opportunity to manage my own cases, get into the court room, and foster different legal skills—all while making a small difference."

CVLS 50th ANNIVERSARY

50 Years of Fighting for Equal Access to Justice

Did you know that CVLS started in 1964 as a handful of young attorneys meeting low-income clients in church basements and community centers? By 1967, CVLS had already served more than 3,000 clients. Today, we have provided pro bono civil legal services for 400,000+ clients.

To commemorate 50 incredible years of fighting for equal access to justice and show just how far we've come in half a century, we created an interactive timeline on our website!

Home and Family Memories Saved

Kim was lucky enough to grow up in her grandparents' home. She'd lived there her entire life, and took over the mortgage when they died. However, financial problems threatened. Although she worked hard at two jobs and took in a renter, it wasn't enough.

Kim tried to negotiate a loan modification on her own, but although she submitted and resubmitted documents, the lender refused to respond. Finally, she got help when the court placed her in the Circuit Court of Cook County Mortgage Foreclosure Mediation Program.

John Marshall Law School volunteers Kyle Schlegel and Katie Anderson advocated for Kim over the course of several years, well beyond Kyle's graduation. Finally, as the attorneys were on the verge of filing a Motion for Sanctions against the lender, Kim was offered a permanent loan modification!

With her hard work, aided by the dedication of her attorneys, Kim saved her family's home and memories.

Volunteer Honor Roll

In addition to being a father of two and a marathon runner, Daniel Blaney-Koen of the American Medical Association Advocacy Center is a CVLS superstar.

A prized volunteer, not only will Dan take case types he knows, but will also jump in on a completely foreign area of law with both feet and quickly becoming an expert. Dan has handled foreclosure mediations, adult guardianships, foreclosure defense and partitions for CVLS. He's taken on some CVLS clients that are easy to work with and some that aren't, but he never gives up. We genuinely appreciate Dan's dedication and hard work.

Maria Petrone

started at CVLS with two cases in 2009 and has kept up that pace for the past 5 years. We call Maria when a case becomes complicated or when a volunteer moves away and we need someone else to jump into the thick of things. Maria is always ready and can seamlessly provide excellent services for our clients. Maria voluntarily dedicated full days of her time to help cover gaps in CVLS attorney staffing.

She goes above and beyond helping her teenage clients on college applications, helping her younger clients ensure they have the services they need to be safe and healthy kids.

It is difficult to imagine the GAL for Minors program without Maria's instincts, skill and dedication to the children she represents.

Patty Nelson will take last month's introductory overview one step further...into the law and dreaded details of loss mitigation. Vacating a judgment or quashing service are virtually meaningless if you can't help your client stay in the home. It is impossible to practice foreclosure defense law without understanding the basics of loss mitigation and all the loss mitigation programs available. Patty will walk you through the general concepts of each program step by step and lead you in a financial case analysis. She will cover HAMP Tier I and II, FHA, Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac programs.
